PREFACE.

1869-70.

THE present volume of the New York City Directory is the eighty-third of the series since its commencement in the year 1786, and it is probable that no other publication in the New World, nor any other American institution, in fact, has continued so long, with so slight interruption, with such uniform prosperity, or with so few changes of proprietorship; or whose growth and expansion have so accurately indicated the growth of the commercial metropolis, as well as that of the whole country. The first City Directory was published by David Franks, in 1786, and the second in the succeeding year by the same publisher. There was none published in 1788, but for what reason we do not know—probably the first two volumes did not prove sufficiently remunerative to warrant its continuance. But in 1789 the Directory reappeared, the publishers being Hodge, Allen & Campbell, who continued it until 1792, after which it passed into the hands of William Duncan, who continued its publication annually until 1795, when it became the property of David Longworth, by whom, and his son, it was published until 1842. The succeeding year it was published by the late John Doggett, Jr., who first gave it the form which it now wears of double columns, the great increase of names making it necessary to adopt a more condensed form. The first volume issued by Mr. Doggett, being the fifty-sixth of the whole series, contained 382 pages and 55,000 names—a very large increase over the year previous, which was caused mainly by the adoption of the plan, which has since been continued, of giving the names of the heads of all the families in the city; the previous publishers having followed the plan of the London Directory, in giving the names of the principal business men, and omitting the names of the laboring classes altogether. The comprehensive plan upon which the Directory is now published, constitutes it an annual census of the heads of all the families in the city. But the rapid increase of population will render it imperatively necessary, before many years, to return to the old method, and give the names only of the more prominent heads of families, omitting the occupants of tenement houses altogether. The continuation of the present plan would necessitate the increase of the size of the Directory to so great an extent, and add so much to its cost, that it would hardly compensate in the value of its contents for the increased price to the great majority of those who purchase it.

Very great changes have taken place within a few years in the character of the populations, and the nature of the avocations followed in certain streets and districts of the city, which are very palpably shown by the number of occupants in some of the great hives of commerce and population. Wall street, for example, which contained many dwelling houses forty years ago, the upper parts of most of the Banking Houses and Insurance Companies being occupied by the families of their officers, does not now contain a single dwelling house; yet it furnishes a greater number of names to the Directory than any other street in the city of its extent. It is a very short street, extending only from Broadway to South street, the numbers in it being but 120, while the names it furnishes of heads of families are 2,320; but the actual occupants of this great hive of commerce must be four or five times greater. Pine street, which runs parallel to it, and is of the same length, gives but 1180 names. Broad street, which extends from Wall street to the East River, and contains only 144 numbers, furnishes 1210 names; and Beaver street, which extends from Broadway to Pearl street, and contains but 95 numbers, furnishes 590 names. Nassau furnishes 1570; William 1405; and Exchange Place 715. These streets are a cluster of hives for attorneys, brokers, bankers, commission merchants and agents of various kinds who economize space to the utmost degree. In no other spot in the whole earth of an equal area, except possibly in the vicinity of the Royal Exchange, London, is there compacted so much business activity as in those streets which we have mentioned, and yet there is not a single dwelling house among them. But the great business hive of the city, which contains the largest hotels, the most spacious warehouses, the finest churches, the most magnificent business offices, and through which rushes night and day a never-ending caravan, is Broadway. This superb street furnishes to the Directory 8,500 names, which do but feebly represent its vast multitude of denizens.

The streets and avenues which contain the great tenement houses show by the number of names they furnish how compact the population is within their narrow limits, besides furnishing a clue to the political phenomena developed at our polls on election day. Allen street, for example, gives 1,190 names; Cherry street 1,740; First Avenue 2,765; Broome street 1,755; Orchard street 1,265; Mulberry street 1,795; Avenue A 1,790; Eighth Avenue 2,370; Ninth Avenue 1,925. The Bowery furnishes but 1,465 names, and Fifth Avenue, with its vast extent of palace-like houses and great hotels, gives but 665 names. Madison Avenue, the splendid rival of Fifth Avenue, which contains, as yet, neither a hotel, a place of amusement nor a business office of any kind, affords but 295 names.

The present volume contains 189,443 names, which is an increase of 3,692 over the number in last year's Directory, showing the growth of the City in the past twelve months.

French and English Institute

FOR YOUNG GENTLEMEN,

Boarding and Day School, Classical and Commercial,

Nos. 126, 128 and 130 EAST 24th STREET, near MADISON PARK,

OLD Nos. 48, 50, 52. Bet. Fourth and Lexington Aves.

THIS School is now in its Fifteenth year. Its pupils are to be found at West Point, at the Naval Academy, the Army, the Counting House, many Colleges and Professions.

The studies pursued embrace all the studies necessary for a liberal instruction. Pupils can commence when Seven years of age in the Primary Department, and continue until they are seventeen or eighteen, ready for their future profession.

German, Spanish and French are taught by native teachers. American pupils are obliged to speak French, the only way to acquire it in a foreign country.

As heretofore, I will devote to my school all my time and energy; surrounded with excellent teachers and all the resources presented by a large city, I will do my utmost to continue to deserve the confidence and esteem of my pupils' parents.

Complete obedience, cheerful and prompt obedience, truth in everything, and work—such are my rules. I shall not fail to enforce them, even if I have to dismiss any pupil refusing compliance with them, or exerting an evil influence in the school. The classes in my institution may be visited at all times by the parents or guardians of the pupils.

It is a rule with my assistants and myself to accustom our pupils to use their powers of reflection and of reasoning throughout the course of their studies. We do not ask them to work beyond their powers, but require strictly the performance of their tasks; in a word, we wish them to exert themselves conscientiously.

THE ACADEMIC YEAR, 1869-70 will extend from the 20th of September to the 24th of June. For all details, terms, and further information, see the Prospectus of the School, which contains the names of my pupils and those of their parents, for the last eleven years. (225 now present.)

From A. Gracie King, Banker.

Fourteen years ago, when Prof. Charlier opened his School, my nephews were put under his charge and remained with him, one of them for eight years. My own son has been with Mr. Charlier for the past nine years.

May, 1869. A. GRACIE KING.

From General J. S. Wadsworth.

My son James has been in Mr. Charlier's School as a boarding-pupil, for the last eight years.

July, 1863. J. S. WADSWORTH.

From Hon. E. Delafield Smith, U. S. District Attorney.

Prof. ELIE CHARLIER, Dear Sir: I intrust my son Harold to you with confidence.

September 10, 1861. E. DELAFIELD SMITH.

From D. D. Lord, Lawyer.

For ten consecutive years my sons were at Mr. Charlier's School, one for Six, the other for five years. Both left him to enter College.

July, 1866. D. D. LORD.

From T. Bailey Myers, Esq.,

Father of Midshipman Mason, who saved the lives of two sailors at Rio de Janeiro.

DEAR SIR: I presume that the notice of your pupil has already met your eye, but I send it to you as you are entitled to a great deal of the credit of forming a boy fit for a noble act. . . . I have been amused to hear my boy telling those now in your school, "good, stick to it, he will make a man of you."

Yours truly,

NEW YORK, April, 1869. T. BAILEY MYERS.

PROTESTANT FRENCH AND ENGLISH

Boarding and Day School,

DIRECTED BY

Mr. and Mrs. ELISÉE CHARLIER.

This School was opened in September, 1868, and contains over sixty pupils.

The course of instruction comprises all the studies requisite for a thorough and refined education. No efforts will be spared to secure the gradual development of the mental and physical powers, and the lasting influences of Christian principles upon the heart.

The greatest facilities will be offered for the acquisition of the principal living languages, although not to the detriment of a thorough English course, for which competent English teachers will be employed. Both of us being French, and speaking always French together, that language will be, as far as possible, literally and practically that of the establishment.

We have both taught nearly thirteen years in this country, and this long experience ought to help us to guard against superficial instruction. We do not propose to have a fashionable school, and, without neglecting Music, Drawing, and other Fine Arts, it seems desirable to us that young ladies should be taught sewing and other feminine pursuits necessary to make of them good wives and good mothers. We wish them, above all, to become Christian women.

From Prof. ELIE CHARLIER.

No. 50 East Twenty-Fourth Street,
New York, August 15, 1868.

A great many of my pupils' parents have often inquired of me where they could find a school for young Ladies, established on the same general plan as my own for boys. I have urged my brother to open one. There are in New York a number of excellent schools; with a constantly increasing population, I believe there is room for one more.

I have again and again asked my brother to become my partner; he has preferred to be his own master. I need not recommend him any further. I have faith in him. He will have my daughters amongst his pupils.

ELIE CHARLIER.
